Brian Prusko Narration

https://soundcloud.com/brian-prusko/narration-demo

A trip to the movies is becomingly increasingly expensive. The price of tickets, popcorn, and soda add up fast. I mean, shouldn't there be a better way to experience the movies?

Well, now there is... with Dealflicks.

Find a theater near you, choose the movie and showtime you want. It's that easy.

We'll start by looking at how much you already know about safety devices. On the next screen, you'll encounter a game of flashcards. To play, read each question, then type your response in the blank field. You'll receive feedback stating whether you're right or wrong.

By any measure, the evidence of his guilt is overwhelming—hundreds of mass graves, millions of documents, and the countless anguished memories of the Iraqi people. Yet that evidence is scattered across a country that, for all intents and purposes, is still at war. For the past year, it's fallen to an American-led team of investigators to begin pulling the pieces together.

This is Brian Prusko. Thanks for listening.